Post 2:

❤️ Today we honor the lives of missing /murdered Native women.

📣 The murder rate of Native women is 10x the national average on some reservations.

❤️ Their disappearances/murders are often connected to domestic violence/sexual assault.

Post 3:

📣 May 5th was the birthday of Hanna Harris, a 21-yr-old Northern Cheyenne woman who went missing in 2013. Each year, the movement to end violence against Native women organizes activities on this day as the #MMIWG National Day of Awareness.

Post 4:

Today we wear red for Hanna and for all for missing and murdered Indigenous women & girls. Their lives matter. Their stories matter.

Native women & girls need justice + safety. ❤️

Post 5:

Native women experience the highest rates of violence of any group in the US; the highest rate of domestic violence and rape of any group of women; murder at more than 10x higher than the national average rate. This is unacceptable.

Post 6:

#MMIWG is unacceptable. Congress must:

- increase resources for tribal victim services
- address the inadequate responses of criminal justice systems
- restore inherent tribal authority to hold perpetrators accountable

Native women & girls need justice + safety. ❤️

Post 7:

The continuing reports of abductions/murders of Native women & girls represent one of the most horrific aspects of the spectrum of violence against Native women.
